Cladograms are a way to organize things by what they have in common. They are a tool scientists use to understand how things are similar and different. What scheme do you think was used to classify these items? Explain your answer identifying what you think was used for each number.

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____

_____